Instead he writes to B. Bogart spends an afternoon at an exclusive field in the middle of nowhere trying to impress the Girl of his dreams (Maria Ozawa). He encounters Evelynne (Margo) from up north, who is determined to bring her cat into the country. And there's Kelly (Vanessa Lengies), a romance blogger who throws aside her computer to dedicate herself to Logan. This is a grown up film about all of us growing up and that is at the heart of the film, I think. The relationships (and they are relationships in many ways) are very. There's a wonderful balance between having the film unfold like an adult movie and the fact that it's also for kids. Only then when they talk more about the romantic elements, which is very subtle, does it work for adults. If you like drama, this is definitely a film to see, it's very emotional.
